AS TRAITOR

HIS LIFE FOR DISLOYALTY TO CRIMINAL ITALIAN COUN-TRYMEN.

MANY ANGLES IN CASE

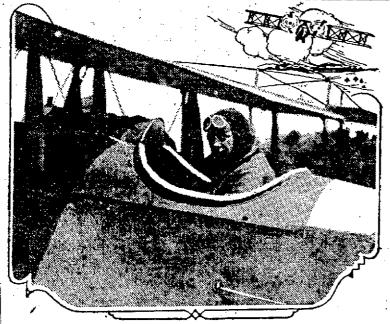

Many Reasons for Crime Stand Prominent That Police for Present Are in Confusion.

Avengers' pistols took their toll in forman life and Ralph "Raffles" Palhis treacherousness to Italian country men. Marked for months as a police stoo!-pigeon," he knew inevitable death would meet him when least expected. "They got him." He always said, "They'll get me." Raffles fell lead before a fusillade of revolver

Now builets found their mark four of them passed through him completely, the other five lodged in his body. Assured that their man would never again be the eavesdropper of American police officers, the murderers disappeared into the night, leaving no trail, but leaving the Janes-die police department the explicit example of the "Black Hand" receipe, one of the most grewsome larger.

Gun Against Body.

The man that fired the two shots which pierced the heart pressed his pistol hard against the victim's body.
About the wounds the fiesh was badly blistered and when Frank Palmero and Angelus Contante arrived as least nikety seconds after the second shots were fired they found his clothing burning. From the position of the other wounds it is determined that more than one man participated in the killing.

"In view of Secretary Lansing's statement in the morning papers," said Wilcox, "Mr. Baker was guilty either of amazing stupidity or of a distingenious attempt to gain voices for Mr. Wilson by misrepresentation. If Lansing is quoted correctly, he went over the Baker statement before it was issued, and the Baker statement therefore appears to be the joint product of Wilson's two cabinet officers. There can be little doubt in the minds of anyone what this statement was designed to accomplish.

The careful phrasing of Baker political poincy with regard to Mexico were be-hind it and that the attempt was to take place between now and election. Other parts of Mr. Baker's statement are susceptible of the same interpre-tation."

AS GOOD AS OVER.
In the last days of the compaign, the democratic managers have been compelled to adopt a truly remarkable shift in order to keep their downfill light alive. They have practically abandoned hope of carrying New York, and devoted superhuman effort to the effort to create belief that they are going to elect Wilson by reason of great gains in the middle and far west.

This is always a sign that the managers see the end of their hopes.

This is always a sign that the managers see the end of their hopes. The thing that is happening, right aow, in the 1916 campaign, marked the disruption of democratic hopes in 1896, in 1909, in 1904 and in 1908. The faut is that presidents are not elected who do not carry New York. Some presidents have been elected who, if the result in New York alone had been reversed, would still have pulled through. Now York is a barometer.

The polit. through. New York is a barometer quite as often as it is a determining through.

weight in the scale.

The question may be asked, why should the democrats, about this stage of a losing campaign, throw up the New York sponge and put forth their fantastic claims about compensating gains in other parts of the country, that never realize? The answer is confectly simple to the political experfectly simple to the political experts.

Of all the states that are traditionally doubtful, New York is the one in which judgment of results may be most accurately formed in advance. It is highly organized; its political factors are definite, big and effective. It is full of sharps on politics, who cannot be fooled. It is under very much closer and more independent observation than any other state in and the conclusions of these observers get more publicity, all over the courty, than any other set political forecasts, simply because the state's tremendous and deserved re-pute for political potentiality compels

No campaign management nowadays expects to fool the people of New York, in the last ten days, about tend-encies in their state. Refusing of course to admit defeat, they yet realize that they will mislead few people; and so it has come to be a regular phenomenon, in the concluding fortnight of a campaign, for the managers of the losing party suddenly to put forth astounding claims of a political earth-quake somewhere else that is going to sweep the country to them, no matter what New York does.

There is only one trouble with these last-minute claims. They never pan out. The side that reorganizes its statistics in the last days in order to show that it will win without New York, is merely admitting what by that time is universal knowledge, that New York is lost.
And the election always goes as

New York goes.
It will do it again this year. Hughes will be elected.

POLITICAL INTELLIGENCE.

In the old days a political belief was handed down from father to son. Families acted about solidly with one political party. Voting for the oppo-sition was looked at as dishonest and People

The modern youth is a very independent sort of a critter. He usually thinks that he knows more than his tather anyway. Voting the opposite ticket is a way of showing his su-perior discrimination, and he often does it. He is a good deal influenced however by the views of his "set." If this or that party has a good bunch of fellows in it locally, he concludes that its principles are good enough for Independent action has its uses and abuses. It does provide a sharp check on the political managers. They cannot bank with security on a docile and aubmissive following. But on the oth-er hand, there is too much tendency to vote for mon simply because they are good fellows and cordial handshakers. As men go on in years, they usually gain more definite convictions. In surly life both parties looked about alike to them. It is easy enough to see that both include plenty of honest men, both have plenty of knaves. But it is not until one's maturity that one perceives the distinct lines of cleavage that lie between them. The American citizen owes it to himself and to his neighbors to make almself familiar with these conflict-mg tendencies. He cannot acquire mg tendencies. He cannot acquire this intelligence slupply by reading neadlines. He needs to take one or nore good newspapers and read every word that throws light on tendencies of men and parties.

It is more interesting than a novel once you acquire the taste for it. If there was this general intelligence, a contract of the contract there was this general intelligence, a great many rampant abuses would dis-appear. The average voter would be able to see through the transparent shams that now deceive so easily.

place for the average boy in his teens to be. It is an organization that a city can be proud of and it is to be hoped that success will crown the efforts of the men who are working so untiringly in the interests of the citizons of tomorrow. Each individual can do their share by purchasing a membership for some boy who otherwise would be unable to become a part of the interesting little colony that is growing in size rapidly.

TOP TO BOTTOM. There should be no hesitancy on the part of the voters at the coming elec-tion to vote the republican ticket from top to bottom. From Hughes down the line through the county ticket. One cross at the top of the ballot will do it. That means a straight ticket.

As is the custom among the profession, who are compelled as a matter of ethics to pretend to believe in one another, he sends for another doctor to attend him. He sent for Dr. Scallops.

"Hum! Hum!" hummed and hummed Dr. Scallops, as he tested E. Fishent's pressure to the square inch with a squirtoscope. "Take one of these pills every three hours for two weeks. I'll leave this alarm clock so you can wake yourself up during the night to take your medicine."

"What's he know about efficiency!" thought Dr. E. Fishent when Dr. Scallops had gone. "One every three hours for two weeks. I'll take them all at once and get better two weeks are once and get better two pills, he swallowed them ef-

The majority of the people there were in costume. Everyone was delighted with the activity of the company and with the new quarters which they have obtained. The satisfaction will undoubtedly bring many rentals to the company. It is their hope to sub-let the hall to various social organizations of the city for entertainments, and in this way obtain money to defray the many expenses incurred in the maintenance of such an armory. The profits from this first party will be used largely for the purpose of getting necessities for the quarters—brooms, mops, and other similar articles which the company does not own.

MISS FAY LITTLE WEDS JOHN E. HILL

Marriage is Solemnized Last Evening at Home of Bride's Parents .--To Reside In La Prairie.

Miss Fay Little, daughter of Mr. Miss Fay Little, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Little and John E. Hill, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hill of this city, were united in marriage inst evening at the bride's home. The Hev. Horning of the Emerald Grove church read the marriage service in the presence of near relatives and friends, using the ring ceremony. An elaborate four course dinner was served. Mr. and Mrs. Hill left for a brief honeymoon trip, after which they will make their home on the groom's farm in the town of La Prairie. They will be at home after Dec. 1st.

Hew new torpedo may be used to destroy a city.

The United States army has a torpede for dropping from aero-planes that will do more damage than planes that will do more damage than any of those that have been dropped by German Zeppelins in England or by British or French aeropianes in Germany. The difference between this and all other bombs is that it always explodes just six feet above ground, scattering its fragments horizontally, while the point at which others explode is always uncertain.

Weeds Prove Theory. Someone once said that "it's not so much a question of the survival of the fittest as of fitting as many as possible to survive," and truer words were never spoken. Everybody who has a garden and carefully tends it knows that the only things which really seem fit to survive are the weeds.

MURDERS ITALIA

SECTION FOREI

FOR months past we have been searching the whole United States in order to have ready for you here this week bedroom furniture which is newest in style, most permanently beautiful in design and with sound workmanship built iu-so that it will last for more than a lifetime.

The beds we have chosen for this unusual display are the new steel kind so extensively advertised by Simmons Company, the world's largest makers of metal beds and springs.

beautiful in their rich colorings, delightful in their dignified simplicity of floors nor carpets. They move at a touch.

Simmons Steel Beds are shown here in many designs and finishes never possible in iron. And their beauty is permanent-they last! Electrically welded together, there is not a single cattling nut or bolt anywhere in any it was disclosed that Raffles was Mrs. Palmero's second husband and that she had left her first man seven years ago in Chicago to marry Raffles.

Contante knew her first husband only under the American name of "Jim." She had told him, however, he said, that "Jim" had been discarded for Raffles.

This presents an angle for investigation. Sifting out theories and causes the police say, "It might be that Raffles' success as the suitor was the cause of his death through a flery, burning Italian passion."

In the patrol as it was on the way to the station the younger Italian addressed his father in English: "Keep quiet now. They haven't got anything on" (either "you" or "us")

Martin Blachnero was the first to realize the necessity of officers. He only knew Constable William Dulin. He called him and with a son the two started for the scene. They entered the man's corpse. "Here he is and dead," cried the youth in fear.

PERSONAL MENTION.

They was disclosed that Raffles and that she had left her first man seven years ago in Chicago to marry Raffles.

Ontonic Knew her first husband on the many interesting things which have bappened in connection with "Romeo and Juliet," the Shake-spearian masterpiece recently completed as a motion picture, was the ploject in 1901, to have Sarah Bernhard play flowed to the New York press that Mme. Hernhardt lerself gave official notice one out with a denial of it.

Twenty-six great actresses have can cut with a denial of it.

Twenty-six great actresses have done the role of Romeo. The first was Mrs. Freeman in 1910. Charlotte Cushman, who gave her earliest interpretation of the part at Albany, in 1837, became famous for her characterization. Ellen Tree, Mrs. J. W. Wallack, Felicia Vestvali and Mrs. John Drew were among the actresses who impersonated the male role.

Social Happenings.

Miss Elizabeth McManus of Harrison street, celebrated her fourteenth birthday on Wednesday, Oct. 25th, by inviting seventeen of her girl friends to attend a theatre party, after which refreshments were served at a crie. Miss Elizabeth was presented with several gifts in honor of the day.

The Art League met this afternoon at Library hall. A talk was given on the art department at San Francisco by the ladies that attended the Panama exposition.

The little Helpers gave a Hallowe'en party this afternoon at three o'clock in the parlors of the Bantist church. Refreshments were served and a very happy afternoon was spent.

herreshments were served and a very happy afternoon was spent.

Mrs. A. A. Russell of the Peters flats, entertained a few days ago ten ladies who were invited to meet Mrs. Ralph Schutes of Peoria, who was visiting in the city. A few social hours were spent and a tea served at four o'clock.

were spent and a tea served at four o'clock.

Mrs. Orion Sutherland of East street, was hostess on Thursday to the taembers of one of the ladies' card clubs of the city. A luncheon was served at one o'clock. The dining room and table had Hallowe'en decorations. A tiny lighted candle was at each place and each one made a wish as she blew it out. Pumpkins on the table, witches suspended over it, lighted lanterns and welrd souvenits at each place were among the decorations. In the afternoon bridge was played. The prizes were won by Mrs. W. H. Judd and Mrs. C. S. Putnam.

Pre-nuptial entertainments have been many for Miss Kae Blodgett. Among them is a progressive luncheon which was given today in her honor by Mrs. Arthur Harris, Mrs. Frank Jackman and Mrs. Norman Carle. The first two courses were served at the home of Mrs. Frank Jackman, the third course at the home of Mrs. Arthur Harris, and the last two courses at Mrs. Norman Carle's, after which auction bridge was played. Twelve ladies enjoyed the afternoon.

Berlin, Oct. 27.—"Summer time," first tried this year in Germany, should not only be retained in future years, but should begin early in April with the putting back of the clock's hands one hour, in the opinion of the Berlin chamber of commerce. The chamber of commerce, which investigated the working of the new scheme at the request of the Prusslan governmentment, finds that it affected a great saving in illumination and probably, a betterment of the health of the general working public. It also recommended that hereafter the change he made on the first Sunday in April, as calculated to bring about the least disturbance in the business and industrial world. The return to normal time would also be best made on the last Sunday in September.

MISS MASON FINDS MOCHA AND JAVA IS SAME TREE'S FRUIT

Written for the Gazette.

Sure Mocha and Java, well mixed, and ground fine, Is coffee I always have ordered for Is coffee I always have ordered for mine.

My mother before me, my grandmother too,
Have always insisted on this blended brew.
But now I must shatter traditions,
I see,
For Mocha and Java I've picked from one tree.

San Paulo, Brazil, Oct. 27.—This certainly is going to be an awful blow to the domestic coffee connoiesseurs. The spicures who smack their lips and extol the elusive flavor of the Java as it subtly intermingles with the Mocha.

extof the elisive navor of the same is subtly intermingles with the Mocha. Indeed it furnished me coffee grounds for surprise when I found the Mocha and the Java not only growing on the same family tree but even on the same branch of the family.

The best way to settle the coffee question is to take a night's train trip, from Rio to Sao Paulo. The state of Sao Paulo is the greatest coffee growing country in the world. Its capital, city of Sao Paulo, is justly dubbed the "Chicago of South America." A two hours run by train brings us to the little town of Campinas, right out in the midst of the open rolling coffee country.

The "King" of Campinas himself took us by auto through the coffee plantations. He is a king by my own dubbing. This successful North American from Lawrence, Kansas, chose to make light of my appellation just as he chose to make light of Campinas. You see he controls the electric light plant and the traction line in Campinas as well as in thirteen other small Brazilan towns. Surely a neat litle crown of incandescent bulbs is not amiss above his brow.

I've heard of people painting the combined alkali.

To Wash Real Lace Collars and Other Fine Laces

Baste the lace to a piece of clean white muslin so that each point and picot is held firmly in place. Make a good lather of Ivory Soap and warm water and let the lace soak for thirty minutes. Then alternately press between hands and dip in the water until clean. Do not rub. If necessary, use n second clean suds of Ivory Soap. Then rinse in clear waters, next in blue water and lastly in a thin starch. Tack on a board stretching the muslin evenly. When nearly dry, remove from the board and press thoroughly through the muslin. Do not put iron on the lace. When dry, cut the boaring threads and you will find the lace like new.

CHAPTER XI.

A Pagan Thrush. All that next June day I worked in my garden, in a dream, my hands performing their tasks mechanically. I ran the wheel hoe between the rows of newly planted raspberries and blackberries, to malch the soll, without consclousness of the future fruit which was supposed to delight me.

My mind was not on the task. Over and over I was asking the question. "Do I love her? What permanence is there in a spring passion, amid gardens and thrush songs, for a girl who caresses the sympathies by her naive delight in the novelty of country life? How much of my feeling for her is passion, and how much is sympathy,

Over and over I turned these questions, while my hands worked mechanically. And over and over, too, I will be honest and admit, the selfish incrustations of bachelor habits imposed their opposition to the thought of union. I had bought the farm to be my own lord and master; here I was at work, to create masterpieces of ilterature, to plan gardens, to play golf. to smoke all over the house, to toll all nigh, and sleep all day if I so desired, to wear soft shirts and nover dress for dinner, to maintain my own habits, my own individuality, undisturbed. We walked down the road, and went first around the house to take a look at the lawn and rose trellis. The young grass was already a frall green from the house to spare room on the northeast corner, the roses, the flowers around the white sundial pedestal, while not yet in bloom, showed a mass of low foliage, the nasturtiums were already trying to eling, with the aid of strings, to the bird bath (which I had forgotten to fill), streaming in. Her eyes narrowed, and she looked into my face with sudden gravity. "I wonder if you do understand?" she answered. Slowly a half-wistful smile crept into the corners of her mouth, and she shook her head. "No, you don't; you don't at all."

Then her old laugh came bubbling p. "I suspect Mrs. Pillig is more of an authority on pies than propriety." I was silent. My resolution, which I she said in a cautious voice, "and, besides, I'm going away tomorrow, and besides, I don't care anyway. Lead

She looked up out of the corners of her eyes. "I should think this would be a good place to wade," she said.
"So it might," said I. "Do you want to try it?"

"Do you want to run along to the turn by the road and wait?" The eyes still mocked me. "No," said I.

I made no reply. In fancy I could see her white feet in the water, her face tipped up in the shadows, her cyes large with delight. How sweet she was, how desirable! I stood lost in a rosy reverie, when suddenly I felt her beside me, and turned to meet her smile.

"How you like the brook," I said. "How I love it!" she exclaimed. "Don't think me silly, but it really says secret things to me. "Such secrets as the stream told to

And then, as we waited, our eyes meeting, suddenly he sang, far off across the tamaracks, one perfect call, and silence again. Her face was a glimmering radiance in the dusk. Her band was warm in mine. Slowly my face sank toward bers, and our lips met--met for an instant when we were not masters of ourselves, when the "Come," said I, "and I'll show you bird song and the whispering pines wrought their pagan spell upon us,

(By Dr. N. B. Cook.)

Persons suffering from too much uric acid in the system frequently look older than they should. They age faster and the appearance of gray bair or baldhead in early years is, indeed, often a sign of uric acid. The face appears lean and haggard, lines and wrinkies appearing in young men or women.

THE REWARDS OF RELIGION. A minister's study window over-looked a great alluvial bottom on the edge of a city. Each season he saw e plowman run his furrows a mile g. He was witness to the arduous toil of preparing the ground, of planting, of later plowing, when the sharp corn blades cut the farmer's hands and face, all the heat, sweat and weariness of it. But in the Autumn he also saw the wagons come creaking home under their weight of telng home under their weight of yellow grain, capped with many a "portly pumpkin, green and gold" while all over the bottom stood the corn shocks like the tents of a great army. How idle and inane to depricate the plowman's toil. He was no object of sympathy. He would have resented sympathy. The would have remarked the very profer of it. Exactly so in the cultivation of the field of the spirit. It looks like a bardship and denial. But wait! "Verily there is fruit to the righteous!" Hear the old perennial growl.
We have heard it oft before,
We have heard it o'er and o'er.
Never has a year gone by
But we've heard the self-same cry.
Now it's sounding far and near;
"Turkeys will be scarce this year."

THRIFTY ITALIAN SOLDIERS SEND BIG SUMS HOME FROM FRONT EACH MONTH

FROM FRONT EACH MONTH

Headquarters of the Italian Army, Oct. 27.—The soldiers each month send home to their families out of their pay four and a quarter million dollars, according to the army post-office statistics. This fact is attributed to the economic disposition of the individual soldier and also to the abundant army ration which makes it unnecessary for him to buy private supplies of wine, tobacco, or food.

"Why, they wake up in the morning to drink a glass of rum," said one enthusiastic Alpini.

The total cost of the daily war zone ration is about 75 cents, according to the changes in the wholesale market prices. But the high cost of living felt in the homes never affects the quantity allotted the soldier.

The total quantity of the ration is 1,850 grams or slightly over four pounds, with an additional allowance of 300 grams during periods of the soldier weighs one and one-half pounds, with two pounds on special occasions. His daily drink consists of a half pint of wine, with a full plot the bad weather or during periods of herd labor.

The other items in his ration are meat, sugar, coffee, lard, potatoes or beaus, salt, pepper, cheese, figs, chocolate, dry figs, and cake.

They have thus far been able to secure ample supplies of hides from Russia, and the number of workmen has increased by at least a quarter.

FRED FULTON VS. ANDERSON AT EAU CLAIRE TONIGHT

Eau Claire, Wis., Aug. 27.—Fred. Fulton and Andre Anderson, heavy-weights, will make another attempt to get together in a ten round session here tonight. Several times these two hoxers have been slated to appear against each others but a hitch at the last minute has always caused plans to fall through.

By rolling fairly consistent bail the Hickorynuts took two games from the Walnuts at the Miller alleys last night. While this drops the percentage of the leaders a point, they are still well in the lead of the rest of the league. The Walnuts do not change their position in the league standings because of their match, but the gap between them and the Hazelmuts is widened a bit. Tonight there will be an exciting fight between the tail enders.

WHEN POLICEMAN BILLY suggested Redhead had said—the magic circle that Father Beaver try the magic would not grant a wish that the circle and see if that wouldn't get asker could get by working. Maybe, his raft over the dam where it was maybe, why of course! That meant stuck, Father Beaver was not very that while the wish for a raft was pleased. You remember he had not granted because Father Beaver tried that magic circle business once before and had been disappointed.

But there was a funny look in just might, know what he was talk-ing about. "Very well," said he, "let's go try."

on Policeman Billy's face; that look that seemed to promise that this magic wish would come true.

"He asked me if I could possibly get that raft off the dam," thought Father Beaver, "and of course I can't. Now what does he mean by that?" And just at that minute, Father Beaver remembered what shadow to the magic circle. He crept inside, turned around three times to the right, shook his front paw and said, "Snookens, snookens, bookins, get my raft off the dam!" And that very minute it began to rain!

Origin of Coal.

The very useful article known as coal is fundamentally vegetable—the product of chemical and other action upon the base vegetable growths of the carboniferous age. The same thing may be said of the diamond, which is nothing more than chemically treated carbon or vegetable. Any half decent book on geology will tell you all about what coal 👞

GOVERNOR'S PARDON RECALLS OLD CRIME

Old Residents Will Remember Mur-der Committed Hore 38 Years Ago-Pardoned for Good

Ago—Pardoned for Good Behavior.

Whitewater, Oct. 27—The pardon of Edward Eckhert recently by Gov. Philipp will recall to some of the older residents of this city the murder of Chas. Peterson, on the Jefferson road north of here thirty-eight years ago. Eckhert and Peterson had been partners in the diamond fields of South Africa and wree engaged in the selling of diamonds. They prospered for a time when differences arose and one night reterson set fire to their home, stole the stock and ran away. Eckhert came to America and become a hobo. One night in 1878 when Eckhert and a man by the name of Wagner were cooking supper on the Jefferson road another tramp came along and asked to share the meal. While they were eating Eckhert recognized the newcomer as his former partner and a quarrel ensued and Peterson was wounded from a shot. Later it is said Wegner thinking Peterson may have some diamonds on him returned and killed him with a hatchet and robbed him of the little money he had. Eckhert was arrested and convicted and given a life sentence. After 28 years, either because of doubt of his zuilt or because of his being a model prisoner he has been pardoned by the governor.

is assessed, 20 per cent goes to the county and 10 per cent to the state. The state pays the entire cost of assessing the income tax, both corporation and individual. The cost to the state for assessing the income tax in all of the counties is approximately $90,000. The 10 per cent allowed the state for the collecting of the income tax is sufficient to pay all of the expenses of the tax commission and have money left, according to Chairman E. P. Haugen of the state tax commission.
